PSI's Foundations in Paternal Perinatal Mental Health presents you with key information regarding paternal perinatal mental health with an emphasis on psychosocial dynamics and evidence-based interventions with fathers. Psychotherapists, medical providers, and allied birth professionals will gain valuable knowledge of the key psychological, interpersonal, and systems-level factors related to fathers as they navigate the transition to parenthood. Participants will learn to apply intersectional, multicultural, and gender-sensitive approaches to psychotherapy, screening, case conceptualization, and treatment planning with fathers via interactive lecture, multimedia demonstrations, and discussions of case studies.

Upon completion of this course, participants will be able to:

- Discuss paternal perinatal mental health;
- Recognize bias as it relates to paternal perinatal mental health;
- Describe the psychology of men, masculinities, and fatherhood;
- Understand relationships between dads and perinatal mood and anxiety disorders;
- Apply appropriate clinical applications when working with new fathers;
- Develop and modify programmatic applications for working with men; and
- Locate local and national resources to aid treatment and professional growth.
